

Jenelle Orcherton is a performer and educator hailing from Montreal QC. She is currently a graduate Jazz student at the University of Illinois studying with Ron Bridgewater and Chip McNeil. Jenelle plays in the top big band and Latin Jazz ensemble, as well as small ensembles and local groups. She holds a B.Mus/B.Ed(Music Ed) and is on-call as a teacher, clinician, and performer of classical and jazz. Jenelle has over ten years experience teaching privately to student of all ages and abilities, as well as ensemble coaching, summer music camps, theory lessons, auditions and performance preparation. Jenelle is also the Artistic Director of the Champaign-Urbana Jazz Festival launching the first successful festival in October 2015.