

Micah Bloom is an artist and educator, and he lives in Minot, ND, teaching at Minot State University. Bloom holds an MFA in Painting and Drawing from the University of Iowa and has been selected for numerous artist-in-residence fellowships. His paintings have been published in literary and art journals, and he has shown work nationally and internationally, including private galleries in China and the Shanghai Museum of Contemporary Art. His multi-media project with flooded books, Codex, was exhibited at the North Dakota Museum of Art and published in book form in 2017. Married for 16 years, Micah and his wife Sara, share four daughters and one son, and they all love to make things.