

Josh Hagen is an artist living in Lakota, North Dakota where he works professionally as a storyboard artist, illustrator and sculptor. Josh received his BFA from University of Jamestown in North Dakota and his MFA in Sequential Art from the Savannah College of Art and Design in Savannah, Georgia.

He then moved with his wife to Los Angeles where he spent several years working on a number of productions as a storyboard artist. He also gained experience working in special fx shops where he was able to get his hands dirty with special make up fx.

Josh and his wife moved back to North Dakota where Josh continues working as a freelance storyboard artist on movies, commercials and music videos. He also recently began publishing his own children's books and creating his own greeting cards.

Storyboard website: www.joshhagenstoryboards.com

Children's Books website: www.funlittlebooks.com

Personal website: www.joshhagen.com