

Mark Wamma is a violinist, violist, performer, and teacher. He is currently the Assistant Principal Violin II in the La Crosse Symphony Orchestra and performs with other regional symphonies including the Dubuque, Mankato, Rochester, and South Dakota Symphony Orchestras. In addition, he is a freelance musician and a member of the River Valley String Quartet.

Alongside performing, Mark maintains an active teaching life. He delights in the challenge of helping his students learn and grow as musicians. Besides teaching through his own studio and the New Ulm Suzuki School of Music, he is an adjunct professor at Bethany Lutheran College, Martin Luther College, and Minnesota State University, Mankato. Mark also serves as a Music Director for the Mankato Area Youth Symphony Orchestra. He directs the North Star Strings, Youth Philharmonic, and Chamber Strings ensembles.

Mark received his B.A. in Music from Gustavus Adolphus College. He is the beneficiary of the knowledge of many teachers including Peter McGuire, Brian Buckstead, Jonathan Magness, Lara MacLean, and Marilyn Bos.
