

Vili Branyik is the current in-house writer for the "Tales from the Tome" podcast (currently on hiatus), a Dungeons and Dragons podcast that specializes in running shorter games over the course of multiple episodes. Alongside being an avid gamemaster for tabletop games, Vili is an educator for those wanting to learn how to play the games or learn how to build their own worlds for their own games. Vili also uses his writing skills to work as an editor and proofreader for other writers, and has produced articles for different blogs covering subjects such as humor, societal commentary, and philosophy.

In addition to his varied writing endeavors, Vili works as a chef. He is currently employed at the "Abang Yoli" in Minneapolis, Minnesota.