

Fostering the joy, freedom and creativity of being a musician, Aleks Tengesdal seeks to form a versatile and balanced technique of cello playing that combines precision, expression and flexibility, suitable for multiple genres and styles. Also a composer, he is constructing a repertoire steeped in his unique musical experiences. Currently, he is seeking to design an augmented instrument which would be able to create live sound-worlds with an interest in live performance, multimedia collaboration and film scoring. Aleks Tengesdal is a self-published ASCAP artist.
