

AJ Martinez (he/him/his) is an Actor, Singer, Dancer, Music Theatre Educator, and Voice Teacher in the Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex. Since having earned his Bachelors of Fine Arts in Music Theatre from the University of Texas at Arlington he has found a love for the Administrative Arts and he most recently spent 2 years working in the Home Building Industry where he developed many skills that will aid him in his endeavor to pursue his performance career. Since then, he has dived head-first back in the performing arts.

Some of AJ's favorite shows to be cast-in are as follows: Songs for a New World, The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee, West Side Story, The Theory of Relativity, Troupers: A Musical Vaudeville, Die Fledermaus (Opera) and many others.

When he is not on stage, AJ finds himself diving into other facets of the musical theatre such as Music Directing and teaching Music Theatre actors how to sing. He hopes to attend graduate school in the near future. In his downtime, he can always be found laughing, making a fool of himself, or organizing the many bags he carries around!! He would like to thank Katherine, John, Phyllis, and the many he survives for teaching him the power of Love, Forgiveness and Art!

"Our deepest fear is not that we are inadequate. Our deepest fear is that we are powerful beyond measure..."
- Marianne Williamson