About Sandy:

Sandra Kay Folwick Massoth grew up in south Minneapolis and moved to Woodbury later in life. She sang in the choirs at her church and played piano and clarinet, beginning a lifelong love of music that would be passed along to both of her children. Sandy cherished her family, never missing a birthday or anniversary. She had an impressive record collection and played her favorite tunes at every opportunity. She also was a renowned bargain hunter. She traveled extensively, visiting 47 states and many foreign countries. Sandy visited IMC several times, attending concert performances of her son and her grandkids. Sandy volunteered at The Grove Methodist Church in Woodbury and at God's Closet in St. Paul and was warm and friendly to all. Unfailingly upbeat right to the end, she was a loving Wife, Mother and Grandmother.
